STRATEGIC INITIATIVE WORKSHOP

Part 2: Building on what works and identifying what needs attention

Strategic Initiative Workshop City Teams | Part 2 Building On What Works & Identifying What Needs Attention With Regard to Spatial Transformation

- Successful cities need effective institutions, and effective institutions need continuity. Achieving sustainable transformative change is therefore an art that must balance transformation with continuity.
- This session aims to provide a context on how to identify and build on existing work done within the metro
- The session will ask delegates to
- Develop an awareness of what came before and what works
- Give a sense of what has been achieved and how to build on it
- Look at ways in which to retain existing value and to ‘strategically disrupt’
- Identify what needs attention – having delineated what works
